Impetuous Innocent (Hqn) By *Stephanie Laurens

After the death of her dear father, Georgiana Hartley returns home to England—only to be confronted by the boorish advances of her wretched cousin. Knowing no one, she flees to Dominic Ridgely's estate, hoping the nobleman will bestow a neighborly kindness upon her.

The haughty viscount hears Georgiana's plea to find her a position as a lady's companion with thinly veiled disgust. A lovely innocent such as Miss Hartley subjected to that base existence? The very idea was preposterous. Instead, he takes matters into his own hands and introduces her to his sister's influence.

Suddenly, Georgiana is transformed into a lady who charms the ton with ease and draws a bevy of suitors at every turn. Everything is unfolding according to Dominic's plan...until he realizes that he desires Georgiana for his own.

After her father's death, Georgiana Hartley travels from Italy to England to stay with her Uncle Ernest, who has been appointed her new guardian. Once Georgiana arrives, however, she discovers her uncle is dead, and her cousin Charles is now in charge. One night spent fending off the romantic advances of a drunken Charles is enough to convince Georgiana that she needs to find alternative accommodations. Georgiana throws herself upon the mercy of the nearest neighbor, Dominic Ridgeley, Viscount Alton. Uncertain exactly what to do with the spirited hoyden, Dominic sends Georgiana to London to stay with his sister Bella, who is more than happy to launch Georgiana into society. In theory, Dominic should be delighted that Georgiana is no longer his concern, but when he discovers that she has a string of ardent beaux in London, the emotion Dominic experiences isn't relief but jealousy. Laurens' romance, now available for the first time in hardcover, glimmers with sweet sexiness and effervescent charm. --John Charles
